The Danish Embassy in Paris is looking for an academic employee

The Embassy's Political-Economical Department seeks one academic employee per 1 April 2021. The employee will be part of a team of six ACs and two trainees.

Job assignments

The Political-Economical Department handles a wide range of tasks, based on current domestic, foreign and European political agenda. Our new colleague will have a particular focus on climate and energy policy, agriculture policy and certain aspects of French foreign policy. He or she will also play an important role in the embassy's economic diplomacy activities in the clean-tech/sustainability sphere. The work consists to a large degree of providing analysis and reports on the French political situation. Further tasks may include answering questions from Danish and French authorities, writing reports as preparation for meetings of the EU Council of Ministers, speechwriting, translations and gathering and information regarding French society.

Working hours would be 37 hours per week. Employment conditions are following local terms. Salary in accordance with qualifications according to individual agreement.

Qualifications

We are looking for a colleague who:

- Has a relevant - preferably social science or legal - education
- Preferably speaks and writes fluent Danish and excellent French
- Has good political sense and knowledge of Danish and French social conditions, especially the French political landscape and context
- Has a broad knowledge of foreign/security policy issues and basic knowledge of EU cooperation

- Possibly has relevant professional or practical experience
- Is interested in contact creation and networking
- Willing to cooperate in a cross-cutting manner and with the embassy's other sections
- Works independently and efficiently without compromising on quality
- Has good interpersonal skills, a sense of humour and a positive attitude

Expected commencement date

1 April 2021. The employment requires security clearance from the Danish authorities.

Application deadline

Applications are to be sent to paramb@um.dk and must reach the embassy no later than 19 February 2021. Selected candidates will be invited for an interview immediately thereafter. Conversations are conducted via web link if necessary.
